I want to go Back to Georgia.

CHORUS

Oh, I want to go back to Geor - gia, Geor-gia thats my home, It's the land of the sweet scen-ted ros - es, no more I want to roam, I can hear the steamboats blowing, to the tune of AuldLang Syne For there's no place like Geor - gia, my south - ern home— Oh I home.

FEMALE VERSES.

Something Seems to tell Me there'll be Wedding Bells for Me.

1st Verse.

In me you see a single girl, free as the wind that blows
And why I never married well, goodness only knows
I had my fortune told to-day, and all the things she said
She told me I'd be rich someday, and shortly I would wed
I'm ready to fulfill the plan, now all that's lacking is the man.

1st Chorus.

Something seems to tell me there'll be wedding bells for me
Something seems to tell me that soon married I will be
Though I have seen most everything a single girl should see Something seems to tell me there'll be wedding bells for me.

2nd Verse.

I've never really been in love, I've always had good sense
I've never thought of marriage, but, some say it's immense
If hubby he don't treat me right, and my love it should freeze
I'll take a trip to Reno where, divorces grow on trees.
But I will take the chance and wait, for I believe I've met my fate.

2nd Chorus.

Something seems to tell me there'll be wedding bells for me
Something seems to tell me that soon married I will be
For I've been single long enough as you can plainly see Something seems to whisper there'll be wedding bells for me.

Respectfully dedicated to my pal Billy (Single) Clifford.
